On June 27, Zinio for Libraries, a popular magazine database will become RBdigital and a new app will be launched. This new app will provide access to both Zinio for Libraries and OneClick digital, an e-audio and e-book database. Library Customers will be able to access both databases using one app. Notifications to download the new app will be emailed directly to customers through their current Zinio for Libraries or OneClick email address. Check with your library for more information!
