U.S. Army Armor School Pamphlet 360-2 11 July 2024

THE UNITED STATES ARMY ARMOR BRANCH IS THE COMBAT ARM OF DECISION

We are the premier maneuver force comprised of the best trained, best led, best equipped, and most lethal mounted warriors in the world. Soldiers first, we are experts in the art of maneuver warfare, reconnaissance and security operations, and the employment of combined arms and joint capabilities on the battlefield.

Armor and Cavalry troopers thrive in conditions of ambiguity, uncertainty, and complexity; are comfortable away from the main body – out front or on the flanks – and decisive when leading it. We always seek opportunities to seize, retain, or exploit the initiative; create and preserve freedom of action for our force while denying the enemy options. Armor and Cavalry leaders combine the superior capabilities of our equipment with the ingenuity of our Troopers to find, fix, close with and destroy the enemies of our Nation through combinations of mobility, precise, lethal, and overwhelming firepower, and devastating shock effect.

> Armor branch is a team of teams ready to fight and win anytime, anywhere, under any conditions of battle.

United States Army Armor School

Fort Moore, Georgia

United States Army Armor School

Mission

The US Army Armor School trains, develops, educates and inspires the world's most agile and adaptive Armor and Cavalry leaders, Soldiers and formations to win in complex environments by closing with and destroying our Nation's enemies using fire, maneuver, and shock effect.

Vision

The US Army Armor School must provide the requisite training that provides a Soldier, NCO, or Officer the fundamental knowledge, skills, and attributes to arrive at their assigned unit prepared to lead by example on day one.

Historical Branch Insignia

Paragraph 36, Change 1 to War Department Special Regulations No. 42, dated 29 December 1917, stated that "the insignia on the collar of the coat for Tank Service would be a conventionalized tank, 1 inch high, with the number of the regiment attached to the bottom". The approved design was a front view of a French tank

The insignia approved in 1917 was not well received and a new design was announced for the Tank Corps per Change 2 to Service Regulation 42, dated 7 May 1918. The new design showed the side view of a Mark VIII Tank above two stylized dragons breathing fire over a wreath. War Department Circular 72, dated 16 March 1921, eliminated the insignia of the Tank Corps.

When the Tank Corps was abolished, tankers assigned to the Infantry were authorized this insignia from October 1921 until February 1923.

In a letter dated 21 March 1922, The Adjutant General approved a new design for Infantry (Tanks). Change 2, AR 600-35, dated 28 March 1922, prescribed the insignia for Infantry (Tanks) to be "The Infantry insignia with tank superimposed.

Change 15, AR 600-35, dated 13 March 1943, added the insignia for Tank Destroyer Forces. This change specified the design was a "75-mm gun, motor carriage M3, in gold color metal." The insignia was rescinded by Change 2, AR 600-35, dated 28 November 1944.

A new insignia for the Armored Forces was authorized by War Department Circular 56, dated 25 February 1942. This insignia was the side-view of the Mark VIII Tank used in World War I. The insignia was continued in use until the Armor Branch was established in February 1951. The new insignia was the result of the Army Reorganization Act of 1950 as announced in Army Bulletin No. 9. The Armored Forces and Cavalry were combined into a single branch called Armor. The Armored Forces insignia was no longer used; however, the Cavalry was continued in use as a collar insignia for personnel assigned to Cavalry Units.

Branch Insignia: The front view of an M-26 tank, gun slightly raised, superimposed on two crossed cavalry sabers in scabbards, cutting edge up, 13/16 inch in height overall, of gold color metal.

The Armor insignia, approved in 1950, consists of the traditional crossed sabers (originally adopted for the cavalry in 1851) on which the M-26 tank is superimposed. The design symbolizes the traditional and current roles of armor.

Branch Plaque: The plaque design has the branch insignia, letters and border in gold. The background is green.

Regimental Insignia: Personnel assigned to the Armor branch affiliate with a specific regiment and wear the insignia of the affiliated regiment.

Regimental Coat of Arms: There is no standard armor regimental flag to represent all of the armor regiments. Each regiment of armor has its own coat of arms which appears on the breast of a displayed eagle. The background of all the armor regimental flags is yellow.

Branch Colors: Yellow. 65002 cloth; 67108 yarn; 123 PMS.

In March 1855, two regiments of cavalry were created and their trimmings were to be of "Yellow". In 1861, the designation of dragoon and mounted rifleman disappeared, all becoming Cavalry with "yellow" as their colors. Armor was assigned the colors green and white by circular 49 on 21 February 1947. When the Cavalry branch was abolished, the present Armor was assigned the former Cavalry color yellow by SR 600-60-1 dated 26 October 1951.

Birthday: 12 December 1776. The Armor branch traces its origin to the Cavalry. A regiment of cavalry was authorized to be raised by the Continental Congress Resolve of 12 December 1775. Although mounted units were raised at various times after the Revolution, the first unit in continuous service was the United States Regiment of Dragoons, organized in 1833. The Tank Service was formed on 5 March 1918. The Armored Force was formed on 10 July 1940. Armor became a permanent branch of the Army in 1950.

Collar Insignia: Two crossed sabers in scabbards, cutting edge up, 11/16 inch in height, of gold color metal.

The cavalry insignia was adopted in 1851. Officers and enlisted personnel assigned to cavalry regiments, cavalry squadrons or separate cavalry troops are authorized to wear the cavalry collar insignia in lieu of their insignia of branch when approved by the MACOM commander. Some of the armor and aviation units are designated cavalry units.

Branch Plaque: The plaque design has the Cavalry insignia and rim in gold. The background is white and the letters are scarlet.

Regimental Insignia: Personnel assigned to cavalry units affiliate with a specific regiment of their branch or cavalry unit and wear the insignia of the affiliated regiment.

Regimental Coat of Arms: Each cavalry regiment has its own coat of arms that is displayed on the breast of a displayed eagle. The background of all cavalry flags is yellow.

Colors: Although cavalry is not a branch, yellow is used as a branch color for personnel assigned to cavalry units. In March 1855, two regiments of cavalry were created and their trimmings were to be "yellow." In 1861, the designation of dragoon and mounted rifleman disappeared, all becoming cavalry with "yellow" as their colors. Yellow was continued as the color for cavalry units subsequent to abolishment as a branch. Although the regimental flags for cavalry units are yellow, the troop guidons are red and white without an insignia on the guidon.

THE ARMOR SCHOOL INSIGNIA

This original triangular Armor insignia was designed in 1918 and was worn by the World War I Tank Corps and subsequent tank units of the Infantry. The colors of the shoulder patch were blue for Infantry, red for Artillery, and yellow for Cavalry-the three basic components of Armor. The insignia symbolized the union of the three forces. The basic design and combination of colors remain in today's Armor insignia. In 1940, the superimposed figures, taken from the shoulder insignia of the 7th Cavalry Brigade (Mechanized), were added to the triangular design. The tank track stands for mobility and armor protection, the gun represents firepower, and the lightning bolt denotes shock effect. These triple characteristics of the tank are embodied in Armor's striking power.

The Armor shoulder sleeve insignia was originally approved on 21 October 1954. It was redesignated for The Armor School on 26 June 1956. The insignia was amended on 16 July 1957 to change the wording in the description of the tab. On 3 December 1964 the insignia was redesignated for the U.S. Army Armor School. The shoulder sleeve insignia was again amended on 5 November 1970 to revise the design to make the insignia and tab one piece.

RESERVE COMPONENT

The Reserve Components (RC) of the United States Army are the US Army National Guard (ARNG) and the US Army Reserve (USAR). The nation's security requirements in the past decade have clearly demonstrated that the Army National Guard and the Army Reserve are full partners in America's Total Army. The Guard and Reserve quickly transformed from the role of Strategic Reserve Forces to Operational Reserves, serving in Operations Noble Eagle, Enduring Freedom, and Iraqi Freedom. More than 225,000 Reserve Component Soldiers were mobilized and have served in direct combat with another 150,000 Soldiers mobilized in mission support roles across the globe. In all theaters, Reserve Component Citizen-Soldiers served with distinction and answered the nation's call to defend the ideals of freedom and democracy.

THE ARMY NATIONAL GUARD

The Army National Guard is our nation's oldest military force. It traces its lineage to the three Regiments formed in the Massachusetts Bay Colonies in 1636. National Guard Soldiers are Citizen-Soldiers, who fulfill dual roles as ordinary citizens and as members of the Armed Forces of the United States. The ARNG's Citizen-Soldiers have been mobilized and fought in every one of our Nation's wars. The Guard is a community-based military organization and, as such, is prepared to assist cities and towns in times of natural or man -made disaster. The Guard has a unique distinction in that it must be prepared to respond to both State and Federal missions.

Today the ARNG, as part of the U.S. Army, is transforming itself to better prosecute overseas contingency operations while remaining a ready and relevant force that is prepared to defend our homeland and provide emergency relief against natural disasters. The ARNG is transforming into a modular force that will provide more flexible, responsive, and capabilities-based units that will seamlessly integrate into the larger Army. As the Army transforms itself from the Current Force to the Future Force, so will the Army National Guard.

The map illustrates the primary building block of the modular force, the Brigade Combat Team (BCT). The ARNG Armored BCTs (ABCT) have both 19Ds and 19Ks serving in their Combined Arms Battalions (CAB) and Cavalry Squadrons. Infantry BCTs (IBCT) and Stryker BCTs (SBCT) have 19Ds serving in their Cavalry Squadrons.

THE ARMY RESERVE

The US Army Reserve was organized in 1908 to provide a pool of physicians to support the Medical Department of the US Army in response to shortages in the Spanish-American War. From those modest beginnings, the Reserve has grown to a force of over 200,000 unit members who serve in all branches of the Army in combat, combat support, and combat service support units. The USAR's 100th Division (Institutional Training) directly supports the Armor and Cavalry force by providing Officers and NCOs who train Soldiers at the US Armor Center. The USAR also has Training Support Brigades and Battalions that integrate Active, Guard, and Reserve Soldiers into a training support element that supports ARNG and USAR Units collective training for mobilizations.

CMF 19 Career Development

The opportunities to enhance Soldier's careers are numerous. Though not carved in depleted uranium, these charts show the normal timeline for an Armor/Cavalry Soldier's career progression based on enhancement opportunities. It is key to understand that a Soldier should not receive an assignment to a specialty area prior to completing the developmental requirements for his rank (see DA Pam 600-25, https://www.milsuite.mil/book/groups/smartbook-da-pam-600-25).

ARMOR TALENT MANAGEMENT STORYBOARD

INTELLIGENCES: Bodily-Kinesthetic, Interpersonal, Spatial

KNOWLEDGE: The Armor branch desires officers with academic backgrounds that span the entire spectrum of disciplines and majors offered at our nation's undergraduate institutions. Broad individual experiences contribute to the success of the branch.

 RELEVANT EDUCATION / EXPERIENCE: Leadership role in team athletics; Cadet Troop Leading Time / Leader Development Time (CTLT / CLDT) with Tank / Scout PL; Company / Troop CDR; Armor or Basic Training/OSUT units; Staff Officer (not all inclusive). Prior enlisted time in a Maneuver branch.
 RELEVANT TRAINING / CERTIFICATIONS: Scout Leaders Course; Bradley Commander Course; Stryker Scout Commander Course; Ranger; Airborne;

Air Assault; Maneuver Leader Maintenance Course.

SKILLS: Armor officers are leaders of teams who are experts in combined arms, reconnaissance, and security operations. They possess the technical and tactical competence, social and cultural awareness, and oral and written communications skills needed to cultivate trust, and teamwork. Armor officers are responsible for training their units for combat to defeat lethal, adaptive enemies in all types of terrain. Armor officers lead their tank formations, closing with and destroying the enemy, as well as lead scouts conducting reconnaissance and security. They are physically fit and mentally tough, prepared to succeed under the most adverse conditions. They are leaders who possess a flexibility of mind, able to utilize multiple technologies to devise solutions to complex and dynamic challenges. Armor officers are comfortable making decisions in ambiguous environments, developing courses of action, determining and mitigating risks, then precisely and effectively communicating plans to accomplish the task or mission.

Armor Recognition Programs

Excellence in Armor (EIA)

Armor School Pamphlet 360-3

The EIA Program is a unit-ran program that identifies outstanding CMF 19 Soldiers in the ranks of Private through Staff Sergeant who have demonstrated performance and leadership potential, either in One Station Unit Training (OSUT) conducted by the 194th Armor Brigade, or in Armor and Cavalry units.

Armor and Cavalry Leadership Award

Armor School Pamphlet 360-8

The Armor and Cavalry Leadership Award is presented annually to promote, sustain, and recognize excellence in leadership in Armor and Cavalry units. The award also recognizes individuals who exhibit excellence in leadership or training, or who make significant contributions to the force. The Armor and Cavalry Combat Leadership Trust Fund located at the US Army Armor School, Fort Moore, Georgia

Armor Officer / Enlisted Project Warrior

The Project Warrior is a program designed to spread the knowledge and expertise developed by the best Armor officers and NCOS to the Armor force. While Officers are selected from the Combat Training Centers (CTC), NCOs are selected from the operational force to be assigned for 18-24 months at a CTC as an Observer/Controller. Officers receive a follow-on assignment to Fort Moore to serve as Maneuver Captain Career Course Small Group Instructors (SGI). NCOs receive a follow-on assignment to Fort Moore to fill key instructor positions in Armor BOLC or Maneuver SLC, or to become a Maneuver Doctrine writer. Project Warrior Officers are identified by annotation in Section X of their Officer Record Brief (ORB). NCOs selected for the Project Warrior program will have a Personnel Development Skill Identifier (PDSI) of P4W annotated in Section I of their Enlisted Records Brief (ERB).

Army Career Tracker (ACT)

ACT is an Army leadership development tool that provides a single point of entry for career management and development for enlisted and officers. ACT pulls information from training, education, and experiential learning sources and presents a common training picture as well as a consolidated course catalog. ACT provides a personalized, consolidated history of all recorded education, training, and assignments in a simple-to-use interface.

Armor Recognition Programs

MG Adna R. Chaffee Jr. Award (Legends of Armor)

The Legends of Armor is an annual award which recognizes the finest Soldiers, who have made long lasting contributions, within the Armored Force. This is the highest honor presented on behalf of all Eligibility: Retired Officers or Noncommissioned Officers who served in the Armor or Cavalry Branch regardless of time period or component. Nominees must be retired from active service for a minimum of five years. Nominees must have served admirably and retired in good standing. Historical nominees must have served in WWII or prior.

Criteria. Each nomination will be considered across the following criteria:

- Contributed to the transformation of the mounted force to fight and win in Armored combat.
- Offered a vision for the future of the mounted warfighting force that significantly improved lethality, mobility, and survivability.
- Developed innovations in equipment, materiel, or doctrine that significantly enhanced the effectiveness of the mounted element of the combat arms.

Armor Recognition Programs

GENERAL FREDERICK M. FRANKS, JR WRITING AWARD

CRITERIA AND EVALUTATION

GEN Fred M. Franks Jr. Writing Award will evaluate and recognize outstanding contributors, from across the Army, who demonstrate clarity and vision on the future of the Armor force through clear and concise writing.

Officers, NCOs, Soldiers and DA Civilians write about the future of the Armor branch and offer insightful, forward-thinking concepts to improve the force.

The applicant will offer ideas and recommendations for improvement within Doctrine, Organization, Training, Materiel, Leadership, Personnel, Facilities, and Policy (DOTMLPF-P) for consideration and/or implementation by the Chief of Armor.

The selection board consists of, but is not limited to, representatives from the following organizations: USAARMS HQ, Office of the Chief of Armor, Armor Historian and ARMOR magazine.

The winning manuscript will be announced annually during Fort Moore's Armor Week.

ELIGIBILITY

Open to all active and reserve component Soldiers and Department of the Army Civilians. Soldiers of all ranks, regardless of Area of Concentration (AOC) or Military Occupational Specialty (MOS), are eligible for nomination.

AWARDS

Enshrinement will include the production a professional portrai including significant contributions and a biography, which will be displayed at Armor School Headquarters at Fort Moore.

History of "Old Bill"

The portrait above by artist Frederic Remington was originally titled "The Cavalryman". In 1898 Remington visited the camp of the 3rd Cavalry at Tampa, Florida where the regiment was staging for the Santiago campaign. The artist, on his way to cover the war in Cuba for Harper's Weekly, was a close friend of Captain Francis H. Hardie, commander of 3d Cavalry's Troop G.

During his visit, Remington's attention was drawn to Sergeant John Lannen. A superb rider and an imposing figure, Lannen impressed Remington as the epitome of the cavalryman. With Hardie's approval, the artist made several rough sketches of the white-haired, white-mustached noncommissioned officer.

From these sketches Remington later executed the now famous drawing portraying a cavalryman mounted on his horse with a carbine cradled in his arms. Remington presented this drawing to the Cavalry Association in 1902. In January 1903, this drawing appeared on the cover of the Cavalry Journal where it stayed for forty years.

With nearly 30 years of service and close to retirement, Sergeant Lannen succumbed to yellow fever in Cuba. Sergeant Lannen's birth name was William Carroll and this may be the source for the print's current nickname "Old Bill".

Always a branch of great esprit, and highly conscious of history and tradition, the Cavalry took the Remington masterpiece to its heart. Although the drawing left the front cover of the Cavalry Journal in mid 1942, it appears to this day as a trademark of the United States Army's mobility in war.

THE UNITED STATES ARMY ARMOR BRANCH IS THE COMBAT ARM OF DECISION.
