

Lieutenant Colonel Munir Nouredine

Originally from Puerto Rico, Lieutenant Colonel (LTC) Munir Nouredine was raised in New York City and commissioned in the United States Army in 2007 through the Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) at St. John's University.

LTC Nouredine has served in various leadership positions from platoon to brigade. His operational experience includes deployments to Afghanistan, and as an Infantry advisor in Colombia. As a field grade, he served with the NYC Recruiting BN and the 199th Infantry Brigade, serving as both a Battalion and Brigade Executive Officer. Most recently, LTC Nouredine served as the Director of the DeLeon-Gonzalez School of Leadership and Tactics (DG-SLT) at WHINSEC.

LTC Nouredine earned a Bachelor of Science in Management from St. John's University and possesses a Masters of Operational Studies. LTC Nouredine is a graduate of the Infantry Basic Officer Leader Course (IBOLC), Maneuver Captain's Career Course (MCCC), Command and General Staff College (CGSC), Jump Master Course, Airborne, Air Assault, the Security Assistance Orientation Course, and the Stryker Leader Course. He is fluent in both Spanish and Portuguese.

LTC Nouredine's awards and decorations include the Bronze Star Medal, Meritorious Service Medal (2OLC), Army Commendation Medal (3OLC), Army Achievement Medal (2OLC), National Defense Service Medal, Afghanistan Campaign Medal, Global War on Terrorism Service Medal, Army Overseas Service Ribbon (1OLC), NATO (ISAF) Ribbon, Combat Infantryman Badge, Parachutist Badge, Air Assault Badge, and the Expert Infantryman Badge.

LTC Nouredine and his wife, Enaidys, have been married for 6 years and have one son, Amir Sebastian.