

Armor School Call for Data/Personal Experiences – Tank Gunnery Competitions

Traditionally tank gunnery competitions have demonstrated readiness, influenced training and built team spirit among armored organizations. The Sullivan Cup continues this tradition, and in preparation for the 2018 competition, the Armor School has undertaken an historical study of several major gunnery events. The principal competitions addressed include the Canadian Army Trophy, the Canadian-American Cup, the Worthington Trophy/Challenge, Nordic Tank Challenge, Strong Europe Tank Challenge and the Russian Tank Biathlon.

However, your assistance is sought in obtaining information related to the rules, tasks evaluated and scoring criterion for these events. Similarly, the personal experiences of participants, including non-American nationalities, is also being sought.

If you have such information or would like to share a personal experience, please make your submissions to Dr. Robert S. Cameron, the Armor School's point of contact for this action. All material provided must be unclassified and non-For Official Use Only.
