2. Congratulations on your assignment to the Federal Officer Candidate School (OCS) at Fort Moore, GA. Your training at OCS is your first step to earning the privilege to lead Soldiers as an officer in the United States Army. Upon successful completion, you will earn your commission as a 2nd Lieutenant in one of the 17 basic Army branches.

3. The OCS 12-week officer commissioning program consist of three phases:

Your technical skills will be tested through land navigation, both day and night. Candidates are then trained and evaluated on Warrior Skills, Small Unit Tactics, the eight Troop Leading Procedures, and the Principles of Patrolling. This culminates with presenting an Operations Order (OPORD), which is a baseline skill for any Army Officer.

b. Intermediate (Blue) Phase: You will conduct a Field Leadership Exercise (FLX) where you will be assessed on your ability to plan, rehearse, and execute tactical operations in an austere environment. Active-duty College Option (09S) Candidates will be assigned one of 17 basic branches prior to commissioning. Branch selection is based on a combination of your demonstrated performance and potential, specifically your leadership assessments, physical fitness, academics, and technical/tactical competencies. All In-service Officer Candidates complete Talent Based Branching via Human Resources Command.

. Life At OCS:

a. Basic Officer Leader Course-Accessions (BOLC-A) provide OCs and cadets a common formative experience focused on basic martial discipline, common core skills, and foundational leadership knowledge. BOLC-As are not "gentlemen's courses" and do not provide strategic level education. Cadre coach, train, and educate OCs under the authority of the 3-11 IN Battalion Commander in his role as the OCS Commandant per AR 350-51. An OC is in student status as with an ROTC or West Point cadet and subordinate to all cadre regardless of pay grade. In service and prior service OCs receive no special privileges. As aspiring officers, OCs will be held to high standards of conduct in all aspects of military life including holistic fitness, military bearing, leadership attributes, and personal conduct on and off duty. Development of unprofessional relationships, including romantic relationships, with other OCs is strictly prohibited. Upon arrival, OCs receive, read, and are lawfully ordered to comply with OCS governing documents such as the ISAP, SOP, and TACSOP. OCS is designed to create professional discomfort and stress and provide a common formative experience aligned with other BOLC-As. At conclusion of OCS, OCs are prepared to succeed at BOLC-B with their ROTC and USMA peers.

b. You will be assigned to a training Company that has a maximum capacity of 160x Officer Candidates. You will be organized into a Platoon of approximately 40x OCs, led by trainers (SSG or above) and generally 1x officer (1LT or CPT). OCs with reserved seats for the class are required to start by regulation. If more than 160x OCs arrive for day one, the ACFT will create an Order of Merit List (OML). The OML will be used to select students without a reserved seat for class up to the maximum class size. Remaining OCs will be assigned to the Headquarters and Headquarters Company (HHC) until the next available class or inserted based on attrition.

c. While assigned to OCS, all Students reside in the barracks centrally located in the 3-11 IN footprint. There are no exceptions to this policy. Travel outside of the 3-11 IN footprint and the use of privately owned vehicles will be limited during the first nine weeks of the course. Wearing civilian clothing after duty hours is limited, and only authorized by the Company Commander. Alcohol use is not authorized, but the OCS Commandant may grant exceptions for specific OCS social events.

d. Ensure that you arrive physically prepared for and execute three timed foot marches, similar to Army corps Fit to Fight standards, rigors of OCS. All Candidates must pass the ACFT, run 4-miles in 36-minutes. Most of your time will be spent training in the classroom or the field. You will conduct organized Physical Readiness Training (PRT) Monday through Friday. Generally, you are afforded an hour of personal time per night, and occasionally one day per week of limited-to-no scheduled training (typically Sunday).

e. Ensure your personal finances and family matters are as stable as possible.

f. Cadre will make every attempt to allow OCs to attend desired religious or spiritual services as the training schedule permits. The Battalion Chaplain will assist OCs in locating specific services.

g. Cell phones and similar electronic devices, to include laptop computers, are authorized. However, Cell phones are only permitted for personal use during certain phases or with permission from the Company Commanders.
